

FIREPROOF SAFES

A Great Security Solution

Safes International provide Fireproof Safes which guarantee the protection of your items in the event of a fire

Ensuring the safety of your valuables and important paperwork has become one of the most important aspects of daily living. No-one wants the heartbreak of damaged or stolen valuables at the hands of fire or theft. At Safes International, we have an extensive range of fireproof safes to handle any situation that you might have in your premises. We have different levels of security and different sizes and weights of fireproof safes available, so if the worst should happen, you can still have peace of mind. You can choose if you want a digital, key lock or electronic powered fireproof safe, depending on your security needs. Digital media in the modern age is highly susceptible to damage, even in low levels of heat or humidity, therefore storing such items in a fireproof safe is a worthwhile option to protect your valuables.

Fireproof safes are constructed from galvanised steel plates and a virtually airtight recessed curvature door, enabling them to prevent the spread of fire and smoke to the contents of the safe, keeping your items secure. Added insulation of fire resistant material to actively repel heat gives important paper documents and digital media essential protection in the event of fire.

A fire can cause extensive damage to a business financially. Around 56% of businesses affected by the loss or damage of digital media and vital trading information go out of business. At Safes International we believe that every business should consider purchasing a fireproof safe to keep important paperwork and digital media safe from harm.

What to consider when buying a fireproof safe

The first essential parameter you should consider when purchasing a fireproof safe is the physical nature of the items that you plan to keep. You can get safes of different cash rating, size and weight based on your preferences. Our fireproof safes are constructed with high-quality materials, and feature a double-walled steel body that is filled with a fire-proof composite. The composite may vary depending on the brand purchased – in some cases, it might have gypsum or alum. There are many fireproof safes that you can use to store your items, and these can vary based on your requirements. It is important to note that the external dimensions may differ from the internal dimensions, which is something to bear in mind when choosing a fireproof safe. In addition to being fireproof, our safes at Safes International are also burglar proof because of their steel construction and deadbolt joints.

Fire Rating

European fire standards are met by our fireproof safes that we provide in Safes International stores. All safes have undergone a testing period called 'soak out', guaranteeing the safety of your items. Securing your items against unauthorised access is also vital, especially if you are dealing with sensitive information or expensive items. You can choose a fireproof safe that has varied key lock system, with a key lock preference ranging from keys, digital locks or biometric locks. It is important to note that the protection rating increases with the weight of the safe.

If you are finding difficulty in choosing a fireproof safe, then you can contact our knowledgeable customer support team with your budget range, and they will guide you through the process. Our fireproof safes undergo rigorous tests to ensure they meet international and British standards. Talk to our helpful team today about your safe needs.
